

A Collection of the Books of Bob!

PREFACE

(Before I start you down the Road O' Bob, let me write this disclaimer for you. This is Comedy, I found it on an old beat up piece of parchment buried under the Leigh High stage. It read as it reads in this book. And if you ask me It's darn funny. In fact I was thinking the stories of Bob should be made into a script. If you are reading this book, and you go to Leigh High school, and you know of the rattle we call Bob, and you know that no such following occurs, then start one for the actors and do it for Ted (If you don't understand the Ted part that's O.K. it is a reoccurring joke that is done to death, but is quite funny.) Also, TED KOPOLUS had absolutely nothing to do with this book what so ever.)

Bob is! That's it, congratulations if you have found the meaning. Pretty darn profound, ye. I will try to explain the purpose of Bob and what he does. First of all Bob can co-exist with any other god, This is important so you don't get him confused with any other god's, or get mad because you think this is sacrilegious. This makes it possible to be an Islam and still be a disciple of Bob. This book will help you decide if Bob is for you. This book is still being written, and much like the bible it will have the stories of Bob. This is more of a self-help type book. As in the way that it will help you help your self. I personally had the pleasure of interviewing Bob and must say it was pretty darn interesting. All you have to do is remember the salvation is in the cans. Remember, the salvation is in the cans. For more assistance, or any comments or questions, talk to any of theses people.

High Priest
 Apprentice
High Priestess
 Apprentice
Buddy O' Bob
Head Monk
Head Follower
Keeper of the shrine
Keeper of the Relics
Head Apostles

Apostles:

Disciples

James Howard
Toni Gerard
James Gerard
Allision Fisher
Ted Kopolus
Casey Burchby
 Kristen Nelson
Matt Overby
Sam Mamlock
Shannon O'connor
Brian Gurski
Lori Dow
Jim Podja
John Woodnal
Lorretta Komarczyk

Rebecca Sponseller
Pat Harrington
Brie Neipp

This following was founded by a unknown individual. We may never know his name so I will make one up and refer to him as Ted Kopolus (this Ted Kopolus is no the same person as the Ted Kopolus that has absolutely nothing to do with this book. They are in no relation to each other. It was just a coincidence).

Beginnings: The First Book of BOB

In the beginning there was Bob, and he watched the other gods create the heavens and the earth (Bob is a very lazy god). Then the earth was formless, and empty, and the only sound heard was a rattle, and Bob found that this was good. Darkness was over the surface of the deep, and the spirit of Bob was hovering over the waters. The other gods decided to leave, for a planet with life was a waste of time, and always seemed to cause a lot of problems.

And Bob said let there be light! And it was so. And the bright light ran down and hurt Bobs eyes because it was so bright. And Bobs blessed first words were, "Shut that damn bright light off." and there was darkness. The Bob spoke again, "I think I will call that light that shown down a 'spot light', but that comes later. O.K. let there be light a second time, but this time, not so bright. And there was light and Bob saw that this was good And he separated the light from the dark and called the light "day" and the darkness "night". And there was evening, and there was morning---the first day.

And Bob said, "Let there be an expanse between the waters to separate water from land and sky." And it was so. And then Bob saw that this was good and said, "Damn I'm good." And then Bob was alone with the only his rattle to keep him company. And Bob said, "Let the land produce vegetation: seed-bearing plants and trees on the land that bear fruit and have seeds inside the fruit." And it was so. And he said, "Let there be pesky forest creatures, and dodo birds, and lizards, and aardvarks, and mice, and flying mice called bats, and fish, and flying fish called flying fish, and dolphins, and gorillas, and wales, and pipes, lots and lots of pipes, and lions, and tigers, and bears, and pumas, and magnesium, and huma..." and he caught himself and realized that he had no want for the last two things. Magnesium, when burned, gave off a bright light that hurt his eyes, and humans were more trouble than there worth. And then the earth complained because of all the animals it was asked to produce, but did it anyway. And it was so. And Bob said to the earth, "Earth, good job, and I hope you didn't make any of the last two items on the list." But it was too late the damage had been done and the human race was created. Bob decided that he had had a very bad first week of existence. So, Bob decided to take two extra-strength advil and sleep for the next 3,999,995,000 years. He woke up twice from then and his final awakening is the last twenty years. Once about 2,000,000 b.c. when the dodo birds woke him up. Boy, was that ever the worst mistake a species has ever made. Bob was furious and wiped out the whole race of dodo birds. And it was so. The second time he woke up was about 50,000 b.c. His throat was dry and his rattle was a mear clink. So, he drank a whole river and on his way back to bed he noticed that the humans were becoming more and more structured, this gave him a head-ache and he decided that he would play a practical joke and the human race. So, he planted dinosaur bones under the earth, and laughed as he fell asleep.

The earth turned to Bob as he was falling asleep and said, "Good one Bob." And it was so.

Awakenings: The Second Book

When Bob awoke he noticed that humans had become more civilized and he said, "Damn, I knew this was going to happen." He decided to hide in one of the pipes that he created. And it was so. And he rattled to him self and was quite content in the pipe where he hid. This pipe was located on earth, Western Hemisphere, North American Continent,

OKAY, AT THIS POINT
THERE'S AT LEAST ONE
PAGE MISSING.

NOTICE HOW THE PAGES GO FROM BEING NUMBERED TO BEING LETTERED..

DON'T ASK ME, I DIDN'T WRITE THIS.

"Matt you are a very good person and I feel that I have just the position for you on the Higharchy. Please use your good to help me and keep my shrine clean and make sure that the new members learn how to pray properly. You will also make sure that the new cans get mounted on the shrine and that the shrine will never fall down again. If, by chance it does fall then it is your job to resurrect it. You will keep the shrine and you will bring in new member. For it is written in the sands of time. And you Matt will be the keeper of the chant which you will right teach to all."

"Thank you, Bob, you are truly a loving Bob I will keep your shrine, I will bring new people, I will keep it clean and I will add new cans, I will eat green eggs and ham I will eat them, Bob, I am.

Bob laughed at his little joke and rattled in pleasure. And so it was. Matt was keeper of the shrine. Ted Kopolus disinvolved any knowledge of this book and following what so ever.

Book of John

John is a Disciple. He didn't want to go to P.E. because every Tuesday and Thursday the class would have to run a mile. The only way out of running was if it rained, but John looked to the sky and only saw blue. With a look of despair on his face he came to James Howard. James had not yet felt the call of Bob and didn't know his destiny. He was just a follower who thought the whole thing was a joke. John said, "James, I need rain so I don't have to run in P.E."

The future High Priest looked at him and asked, "Have you asked Bob for help. Since he lives in a water pipe he can help with water. He has the most control over water than any other object."

"Will you please pray to him for me he likes you better."

"Sure, I will pray for you. I think Bob will help you!"

So James accompanied by Brie Neipp went to Bob and prayed. While praying for rain James felt a certain power that he had never felt before. And then a voice came. It said, "James, I will do this favor you ask only if you devote yourself to me."

"Brie", I asked, "did you hear that."

"Hear what", Brie responded.

"Oh, nothing, It was just my imagination.", James said.

Then It came again, "James will you do this."

"Yes, I will." James muttered under his breath.

And so It was. James started down a road devoted to Bob and his following. With only ten minutes left till fifth period, the clouds rolled in and with twenty seconds to spare the rain started to pour down in huge droplets. After fifth period the clouds moved on and stopped pouring rain on everything. James thanked Bob . Ted Had nothing to do with this! So don't even think of his name. He knows nothing. You might as well just keep reading because you will find nothing about Ted is this book! In fact, if you are reading this just to find out about Ted then stop because that is un-Bob like! Jeez, Moron!

Book of James

After the promise James made he couldn't go back on his word so he started to preach the word of Bob around school. Although many people ridiculed him he kept trying. And eventually HE tripled the following and doubled the shrine. One day while praying Bob asked, "James would you like to be the High Priest of Bob."

James was speechless. He didn't no what to say. After he got over the initial shock he said, "Why would you bestow this honor upon me. I do not think I deserve it."

"Your the only idiot who would take me seriously and do what I tell you. And in the official rule book for being a higher power in section 2, chapter 1, rule number 4.093, it states, 'If the high being in question has a following, then within thirty days after the following reaches at least 10 members, a high priest must be appointed. If this is not followed then the high power is subject to fines and restriction on his power. He may, under the stiffest penalties, be stripped of all power.'" Bob said

"Yes, I will be your idiot, Bob. I will be High Priest." And it was so.

And Bob said, "I have a list of Commandment for you to hand down to the following. They are to be followed. They are a follows:

- I Thoust shall not peak out from behind the act curtain.
- II Thoust shall only put empty coke cans before my shrine.
- III Thoust shall question my power, or ask why I can't get out of the pipe in which I live, because I can.
- IV Thoust shall not knock over my shrine.
- V Thoust shall not speak
the unholy word "Macbeth"
while in the stage area.
If thoust does mention the name then thoust shall turn there shirt around and wear it backwards and run backwards around the floor of the stage area saying the word "htebeam".

VI Thoust shall not misuse the name of the BOB in vain. For BOB will not hold anyone guiltless who misuses his name.

VII Thoust shall honor your director and your producer.

VIII Thoust shall not murder.
Because if thoust murder, then thou will be deemed insane for killing in the name of Bob. Not to mention it gives a bad reputation to the following.

(Ted Kopolus, who is not involved with this in any way, told me, "You stupid idiot, I got a "C" on my coat hanger sculpture. How could anybody get a "C" on a coat hanger project. I can't believe you used my name in this.

I am not involved make this clear. Because when you stupid cult of Bobalonians goes and kills people, I want you to remember that I was not involved. And you can save that for the witness stand." And it was so.)

IX Thoust shall not covent thy neighbor's theatre.

You shall not covet your neighbor's stage, props, sets, actors, pipes,
rattles, directors, plays, or anything that belongs to them.

- X The tenth commandment will be given out by the Priest or Priestess of BOB by request only. Also thouest shall not thinkist the name of Ted. Also the word Vonstofinof will be used as a greeting between fellow followers. The definition of this word will be given by the High Priest or Priestess of BOB only upon request. Last but not least thoust shall watch the movie "noises off". Beacuse it is funny and makes me rattle.

"There are my Commandments, they stand for them selves. You will be the powerful priest and spread my word. My commandments are good, especially the last one!", Bob concluded.

And It was so. The Commandment were laid out and James distributed them out to Bob's followers. If anything should happen to James Howard before he graduates, then James Gerard will become High Priest. He will learn all the procedures so he can pass them down to his next apprentice.

DON'T THINK TED

Book of the Blight of Stan

Stan was a choir director at a Liegh High school. (The Stan in this story has no connection with a certain Stan Neff, who by coincidence, is also a choir director at Leigh High School. I repeat they are not the same person. Much like the two different Ted Kopolus's, the two different Stan's are just by chance. Thus the new phrase, "DON'T THINK NEFF!" will be coined.) He was called by many a teacher. This was very confusing because he despised that "teaching" thing. DON'T THINK TED OR NEFF. He was a Christian, but used it to manipulate the other students by telling them that they didn't use their voice to glorify God. (If Stan Neff, who is not the person in the story, is reading this, then it was not written by James Howard. It was written by the founder of the religion Ted Kopolus. But not the same Ted Kopolus that has absolutely nothing to do with this story, but you already know that. Sorry for pointing out the obvious. Vonstofinof "Harold, have you fed the dog yet?"

"No, was I assigned that chore."

"Yes, if you don't, our dog is going to die."

"OH, that dog. Well, well, well I though you meant the neighbors dog. And that seamed a little silly for me to feed the neighbors dog. My monkey climbed a tree."

[I would now like to apologize to the reader. The writer was not paying attention to himself, and so we switched writers. Let's see, where were we. Oh, yes here we go.]).

Stan didn't like Bob or any of the students that followed Bob. One day the evil Stan took a black can of spray paint and went over the words Bob is. And it was so.

Bob was furious, and angry too. He was mad. I mean steaming. So he came to the High Priest and said, "I am mad. I can't believe someone would do this. He will learn the power of Bob." And it was so.

James spread the word of the Blaspheme and told people of the terrible Stan. DON'T THINK NEFF. Bob, that night, decided he should pay a little visit to Mr. Russell (not the same Mr. Russell who is principal of Leigh High School) and go inside his subconscious when he slept. And that is exactly what he did. He convinced Mr. Russell to do a full evaluation of Stan and his attempt at teaching.

The next day Mr. Russell stood in on all of Stan's classes. During choir Stan showed off all his music and for the first time in history the Leigh High School Choir sang all period. There were attempts to ask Stan to try and teach while Mr. Russell watched, but Stan wouldn't hear of it, he just kept singing. Then a voice rang out from the tenor section and said, "Stan, will you please teach us to read music". Stan's face turned into an icy freeze. He glanced at the look on Mr. Russell's face and was speechless. When he gained his composure and pretended not to hear the voice. But the damage was done. Mr. Russell asked, "Why don't you teach these kids how to read music?" (Just a reminder that the good character of Mr. Russell in this book is not the Mr. Russell who is a good principal at Leigh High School. Also no one knows who the unanimous tenor who asked about the music reading was. But if you ask a tenor or one of the first soprano's then there is no doubt that the voice came from...) "Sorry about that! This is the editor and I must say that the name of that great young man is confidential and cannot be given out to everyone. So I conveniently ordered the death of our new writer and brought back the old one who was rotting in a dungeon somewhere in the state of St. Louis, or was that the state of Confusion. I don't know. But I digress, back to the famous "Book of the Blight of Stan".

Where were we. Oh, Mr. Russell was saying, "Why don't you teach these kids how to read music?".

Just then, Bob, who was watching from his pipe, saw his opportunity. He jumped into Stan's head and took control of his senses. Bob forced Stan to tell the truth. He forced Stan to say, "I don't know music, that is why I cannot teach the kids about it. I am sorry. I will hand in my resignation tomorrow. I have been bad, very bad." And it was so. Bob had his revenge and Stan spent the rest of his life as a custodian who surfed in his spare time.

Book of Ben

Ben Bethune is one of the nicest guys I know, but he doesn't like BOB. But he deserves to be in the book anyway because I bothered the crap out of him when I was trying to convert him, and this is a friendly book. I am Sorry Ben.

Don't think Ted or Neff! Because you shouldn't. I have told you again and again not to, so don't!

Book of Brian

Brian Brown was one of the nicest people I met during the play "Little Mary Sunshine" and he likes Bob. I couldn't resist putting him in my book because he is a good person, and this is a friendly book.

Book of the Apostles

This Book was written to explain the importance of the Apostles. These were the people who made Bob be known. The Apostles were not just the two names listed they consisted of all the original members of the following who had a position (Not including the Keeper of the Shrine or the Keeper of the Relics.) The disciples were not included because they were the second wave of Bob. I removed the name Mike Olavarri from the list because he is a mormen. No, wait, I meant Moron not mormen. Sorry if I offended anyone who is mormen I didn't mean any harm. Playing croquet is a wonderful way to enjoy a crappy play. The importance of the Apostles is that Bob talked to them now he allowed these people to follow him. You have them to thank. So when you are praying to Bob you must remember to thank these people in you prayers. And always remember it is not a man.

Book of Shannon

Shannon O'connor is one of the best singers that I know of today. She unfortunately had to leave us to go to Syracuse. I'm sorry, that was a mistake, I meant Boston. She is very nice and will always live in our hearts. I hope she will enjoy her gift and have many laughs with it. Bob will always be with you.

High Positions in the Following

High Priest: The High Priest is the most demanding and important job in the following. The following of Bob is some what of a dictatorship the dictator is the High Priest. He is not only responsible for the "Book of Bob" but also he has the power to fire or hire any of the positions.* Also must know the Holy Language of Bob. Vonstofinof

(*This rule doesn't apply to the High priestess, Buddy O' Bob, or the Head Apostles. Also the High Priest may only be filled by a male.

Don't think I'm being sexist that is just the way it had to be.)

High Priestess: The High Priestess has the second most demanding job in the following. Her main duty is to make sure the High Priest doesn't go crazy. He might it happened before. Also, she has the power to try and impeach the High Priest of Bob. But he hold the same power. Also, if the High Priestess uses the power of hypnosis then she will immediately be impeached and be know as Rasputian II. This position must be filled by a girl. Also must know the Holy Language of Bob. Vonstofinof Buddy O' Bob: There was only one Buddy O' Bob Ted Kopolus and there will never be another. The Ted Kopolus that filled this position is not the same Ted that has nothing to do with this. I know you are getting tired of hearing this but It has to be said.

Head Monk: A male position that involves praying to Bob before show and making sure that the keeper of the shrine does his job. The person who fills this position must be in a the school play that is, at that time, on going. If not, he is automatic impeachment Head Follower: A female position that involves praying to Bob and making sure the Keeper of the Relics is learning the language. The person who fills this position must be in a the school play that is, at that time, on going. If not she is automatic impeachment.

Keeper of the Shrine: Duties listed in the Book of Matt.

Keeper of the Relics: Keeps the holy language and learns how to speak it.

Head Apostles: Makes sure that there is no termoil inside the following. A type of Police.

Apostles: The story and job description of the Apostle is listed under the book of the Apostles. There will be few Apostles after the initial ones and there only job is to be part of the faith.

Disciples: Pray to Bob and keep the faith.

Book of Toni

In the other stories the author has gone on and on about how the person in the story is not the person who really exists. This yet again is true. I state, that the Toni who is high priestess in this story in not the same Toni as Toni Gerard, who was the real first High priestess. Just "Don't think Toni"

Toni lived in a little house by a nice big school. Her land lords were mean and nasty people who didn't like Bob. And worst of all the were slaves to the a beast much more evil than Stan, his name was A. M. WAY (this is not to be confused with the business called amway. Who is also a beast but we will not mention them, because then we can get sued. Yea, we are going to court and we will fight them until we win. Even if we have to bribe the judge. Sorry, I got carried away [the word "away" is not to be confused with "amway". There is an "M" in amway. There is not an "M" in away.]). The landlords one day had a bright Idea (which was very rare for them). They decided to force all the tenants to have only the defective products, that A. M. Way gave to people. Toni complied with their wishes and removed every product from her house that wasn't A. M. Way labeled. But when she was taking a shower A. M. Way's shampoo didn't wash her hair properly. In the shower, the shampoo stung her eyes and she fell and bumped her head.

When she awoke she noticed that she was at the Burly gates (not to be confused with the Pearly Gates which are about fifty times prettier, but if they got in a fight with the Burly Gates they would get their buttocks kicked big time.). Bob looked down from inside his bath tub and said, "Always when I am bathing. What do you want Toni. You can join me if you want. I don't worry about you seeing me naked because one of the disadvantages of being a higher being is the lack of Genitals."

"But, how do you go to the bathroom." said Toni.

"You don't want to know, trust me." Bob said, thoughtfully saving her virgin ears from almost certain hemorrhaging. "What can I do for you."

"I don't even know what I am doing here. Didn't you bring me here Bob."

"What? Me? Heck no. I don't summon people to my home. Dam it. It must have been one of those Executive guy's doings. They, who wrote the book of rules for Higher Beings, say that you have to help at least four people a year who have an out of body experience. So, what is your problem."

At this point in time, Toni recreated the whole story. To save the reader from having to listen to repetition I will edit this part from the story and enter at the part in which Toni asks for a new shampoo. "...so I would appreciate it if my hair would not be all gross after I use the shampoo."

"Oh, that is your problem? No, world peace or feed the hungry. Just a bottle of shampoo. I can do that this is easy. Go home to you tub and you will find a golden bottle of Bantene, the shampoo of gods."

So, Toni went home and used the bottle of Bantene for a whole week. Until the one fateful day in which the Landlords made a surprise inspection. When they found the bottle of Bantene they went wild and called A.M. Way. He slithered out of the deepest hole in the earth the dragged his obese pus filled body to Toni's house. He came inside and said, "May I please sit."

Toni said, "I would prefer you stood."

This out raged him and he started to yell insults at her when the landlords interjected, "Master, we found this bottle of Bantene."

Toni was frightend for her life. He lashed out his hand, or tentacle, or apendage of some sort. and crushed the table beside her. Bob, who was watching decided to put an end to this story by picking up A.M. Way, and his landlords, and throwing them far away (not anyway).

Toni said, Thank you O' Great Bob."

"It was nothing." Bob said, being quite modest.

Consequently A. M. Way landed on top of the amway building and killed the CEO ending that businesses rain of terror for ever.

Ratification of the Book of Bob

I have read the Book of Bob and agree with the ideas presented. I also do believe in Bob and all that he stands for.

James Howard X _____

Toni Gerard X _____

Ted Kopolus X _____

Casey Burchby X _____

Kristen Nelson X _____

Shannon O'connor X _____

Brian Gurski X _____

Jim Podja X _____

HERE IS A RANDOM PAGE I CAME ACROSS. I'M GUESSING IT'S FROM THE BOOK OF KRISTEN.

I COULDN'T FIND ANYTHING THAT GOES WITH IT, BUT THOUGHT IT SHOULD BE IN-CLUDED NONETHELESS.

IF ONLY I HAD THE ROSETTA STONE ...

place setting at the Dining room table. The prayer was made as she laid the place card out for Bob. The she realized, to her dismay, that Bob was not seated at the head of the table. And it was too late. Bob got in an uproar and rattled so loud you could not hear anyone talk. But, since her intentions were good he decided to be a forgiving Bob and let her explain herself. After the play he spoke to her and blessed her with his word.

"Kristen" he said, "Kristen, you have made a big mistake but considering your faith and the loyalty you have towards me I will forgive you if you spread the word of Bob trough out your halls and classes to all the homies you see."

Kristen replied, "Thank you oh Great Bob. I have been blessed with you word. I will do as you have requested." But, Kristen didn't follow her Request and didn't preach the word of Bob because, she was afraid of the homies.

Bob came to her a week later and said, "Why have you not fulfilled my request. Do you not believe in the word of Bob! Because you have failed me I will put you in the belly of a big shark until you have proven you are ready to except Bob and follow his word." And it was so. Kristen was put in the belly of a shark. Bob came to her a week later and said, "Have you learned the power of Bob and decided to follow his word."

"Oh, Bob you are a wonderful god. I will learn you ways and always be with you. You are a might Bob.", said Kristen.

"Then you may be realized and return to your home." And it was so. The shark swam as fast as he could to the nearest land and spewed Kristen out along with pieces of his lunch.

Two week later Kristen was crying and Bob came to her, "What troubles you my dear. May I help you."

"Bob I have no money and I have loans to pay off. Also, I am so thirsty and I finished all of my water in my water bottle."